At Western Golf and Country Club, Caddie ranks and pay rates are based on the caddie’s level of experience, knowledge, and positive reviews from Members. These determinations will be made by the Golf Staff and Caddie Committee.

A new caddie that is in their 1st year will be given the title of a “Beginner”. This caddie is considered a beginner, needs to gain experience, and is just learning the responsibilities of becoming a quality caddie in the future.

A caddie at the second level will be given the title of an “Intermediate”. This caddie has gained some on course experience, is able to carry and manage their own golf bag, has an understanding of golf and caddy terminology, and is continuing to learn the responsibilities of becoming a quality caddie in the future.

The next level for a caddie is to be given the title of a “Captain” Caddie. This caddie would earn this rank after a minimum of one full golf season at WGCC and has shown the ability to handle the basic caddie responsibilities while continuing to progress in their learning experience.

The top level of rank for a caddie is the “Honor” Caddie. This annually selected caddie is considered the leader of all WGCC caddies. The Honor Caddie has been at the Club caddying for a minimum of two full golf seasons. This caddie each year is someone who portrays a positive influence, is willing to train and mentor all new and returning caddies, and is proficient in pace of play and bag management whether it is a single player or a group of four players.
